As our growers are all small producers, from time to time weather conditions can prevent them from being able to harvest our freshly ordered produce. In these circumstances we may have to substitute similar organic items from a wholesaler to be able to complete your order. We will always invoice the true value of the items we are sending you and prices can vary a little. If you would prefer to not receive substitutions in these situations please do let us know.

Cherry Gardens' is a small independent grower harvesting especially to order for our clients. They are local, and grow by organic, biodynamic principles and are Demeter certified which is recognised as an equivalent licence by the Soil Association. 'Our Growers' are other small independent growers we are very proud to support and be supplied by. 'Our growers' are all small organic producers and are Soil Association certified. 'Wholesaler' Whilst we support as many local growers as possible, to provide variety for our clients we have good relationships with wholesalers who we can also source lovely organic produce from. What is biodynamic? A BD farm will work as its own independent ecosystem - taking every part of the production (food and waste/compost) and putting it to use in another part of the farming process. Its organic - but one step further.
